

Get To Know Katrina Shum

Sustainability Manager

Hometown: Toronto, Ontario, Canada
Sustainability Manager since June 2008

What are your goals for Engrained?

To continually align our practices with the six green intentions and to educate and engage the ASU community on sustainability through this learning-living restaurant.

What do you enjoy most about your job?

The excitement when someone tells me about a new green habit that they have started at work or at home, no matter how small.

What sparked your interest in sustainable food?

Growing up, I spent several months working and living on an organic farm on the coast of Maine. I also had a garden and compost heap in my backyard for a few years.

What sparked your interest in sustainable food?

I have worked on sustainable projects with hotels and resorts, nonprofits and indigenous communities in Hawaii, Laos, Malaysia, Mongolia and Washington, D.C.
